Varied Forms of Entertainment Planned to Mark Summer's Arrival

The Fourth of July is traditioinally the start of summer. For present-day Americans, it's one of the few holidays whose date is untouched by the holiday-on-Monday pattern. In fact this year, it occurs on a vexingly inconvenient Wednesday—too late for one long week-end, too early for another.

For Princeton, the Fourth means fireworks and this year, the start of summer and the day for fireworks came together. Last Thursday, on the first day of summer, Princeton had a display of natural fireworks which lasted over three hours before it finally fizzled out in a drizzle of rain.

This year, a fresh, bright innovation will mark the Fourth. It's the latest in the Borough's "Summer in the Square" relaxations, planned to take place on the small green behind the Palmer Square tiger.

Starting at 7 p.m. the evening of the Fourth of July, actors from Summer Intime will present "George Washington Grossing the Delaware." How they plan to execute it in mid-summer without ice-floes is an unanswered question, and there are even rumors of a quite unauthenticated cherry tree. Anyhow, the drama has been scheduled to fill in the post-supper hours before the fireworks begin in Palmer Stadium.

According to Summer Intime, "Washington" is gently humorous but never biting or sarcastic. Costumes are reported to be resplendent (left over from a University production in Wilson College last spring) and Summer Intime has promised "a cast of thousands" selected from its roster of summer theatre actors.

"Tension-packed incidents," says the theatre, "leading up to George Washington's historic raid of the Hessians at Trenton, highlight the evening's entertainment." The actors who played General Washington and General Cornwallis have been persuaded to repeat their roles and the audience is urged to "bring a sparkler and a flag and root for your favorite side! It will be an evening of 100-percent American entertainment."

Then come the fireworks. Young and old, with attendance heavily weighed on the side of the former, are invited to pay the two dollars (one dollar for the kids) and see the show. (Make certain you keep your "Palmer's" straight: "Square" for the play, "Stadium" for the fireworks.)

Because the light is never dark enough for the impatient young, American Legion Post 76, sponsors of the show, has signed on the Fordham Rock Blues band to make time pass quickly before the red glare of the first rockets.

Will it rain?

Well, sometimes it does.

Last Thursday, for example. Five inches fell on Princeton in four hours. In fact, a lot of basements measured exactly that amount of input: five inches.

Princeton was the dumping ground. Some near-by localities were hardly touched.

"In intensity, for a thunderstorm rainfall, it was right at the top," measures Princeton's weather expert, David Ludlum. "In terms

Meeting Thursday May Move Regional Sewer Plan Off Dead Center

"Something" must be done. Borough and Township, still not quite in agreement on regional sewer plans, nevertheless agree that action must be taken to bring a regional sewer system closer to realization.

This Thursday at 8 p.m. in West Windsor's Township Hall, the six representatives of the six communities constituting the Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority will meet — maybe to decide what action to take.

A July 1 deadline, once thought alarmingly imperative, no longer seems so. Township Mayor Jay Bleiman said last week that a Federal official had explained July 1 to him as a grant deadline, not the application deadline Authority members had believed.

But Thomas Cawley, who represents the Borough on the Authority, says he regards a July 1 deadline as important because a decision must be made sometime.

The Authority expects to hear answers this Thursday from its engineers, Metcalf and Eddy, on questions raised at the June 14 public hearing on an Environmental Assessment of proposed sewer plans.

Some of the questions: what would the "secondary impact" of a regional sewer be — would it bring in 1,000 new apartments; would it damage the water supply of the area? Could the various alternate sewer line routes — 1-A, 1-B, 1-D and so on — be combined into a kind of "1-Q", or could each municipality opt for the route that would suit it best?

For Princeton, perhaps the key question is "Alternate 1-A." Dean Chace, the Township's representative on the Authority, has been instructed by Committee not to go along with 1-A as it is now.

"Serious questions" do exist about 1-A, says Mr. Cawley, but he and the Borough think there are variations that redeem it and may make it acceptable.

This route traverses the woods of the Institute for Advanced Study, and this is the chief reason for opposing it. At Thursday's meeting, material by Dr. Henry S. Horn of Princeton University will be presented by the Friends of the Princeton Environment, showing the ecological — and historical — importance of these woods, the Friends Meeting House woods, the Wildlife Refuge and the University's Stony Ford Refuge on Cleveland Road.

Dr. Horn's report also raises questions about the population growth that would follow construction of a regional sewer, and questions the effect the present sewer plant plans would have on water quality.

"We don't like 1-A in its present form," says Mayor Bleiman, "we lean to 1-B, which would involve putting lines in a tunnel. But what we really don't want is an environmental disaster."

Mayor Bleiman says he hopes the Authority will make some decision this Thursday so the state's Department of Environmental Protection will have something on which to act.

MORVEN STAFF AIDED By Minimum Security Convicts.

Two years ago, Wesley C. Meininger of Trenton wrote Governor William T. Cahill and asked him, in effect, for a job.

For the past six weeks, Meininger has worked as a houseboy at Morven, the Governor's official residence on Stockton Street.

What is unusual about Meininger is that he is actually a minimum security prisoner at Jones Farm, a satellite of the Trenton State Prison. He was convicted of manslaughter in Morris County in 1969.

Meininger's original letter to Gov. Cahill did not result in the use of minimum security prison details at Morven. That practice, according to prison authorities, has been in effect since the term of former Governor Richard J. Hughes. The staff of Morven since then has always been assisted by a "handful" of prisoners, a spokesman said.

But Meininger's letter to the Governor and other lobbying on the convict's part did result in the state modifying its work-release program to allow some persons convicted of violent crimes to participate.

Program Defended. When the rules for the work-release program were altered, Meininge went to work for the Bannison Metal Poducts Corp. in Trenton, and within two months was promoted to shipping foreman.

Last week, when a guard at the Yardville Youth Reception and Correction Center stated that persons convicted of violent crimes should not be eligible for work-release, Meininger rushed to the defense of the program he helped initiate.

"After a man — any man — serves a term in prison he needs money to get a start when he returns to society. He cannot save enough money from the very little he earns while in prison, and the prison gives a man being released . . . very little gate money," he wrote to a Trenton newspaper.

"So the program serves a very useful purpose in helping a man get a start back into society."

First-Hand Look. Now Gov. Cahill apparently has had a chance to judge first-hand the man with whom he corresponded on the work-release issue.

Prison authorities themselves have had varied opinions of Meininger.

In April of last year, when he was promoted to foreman under the work-release program, Meininger was released from any custody on parole. In November he violated that parole, and was returned to prison and the minimum security of Jones Farm, from which he was assigned to the Morven unit. He was switched back to Jones Farm Monday.

Meininger, in his recent defense of the work-release program in the Trenton newspaper, wrote that "the return to prison by murderers for any reason is also very low."

The convict now will have to wait until he serves his term or is paroled again before he can try a second time to prove his point.

of rain, it was equal to August of 1971, although of course it was quite a different kind of storm."

This one lasted a lot longer than most thunderstorms, Mr. Ludlum reminds us. A slow moving front appeared around cocktail time Thursday and stalled over the area. There was no push from behind, and there was resistance from the seacoast to keep it from moving forward.

A Small Cyclone. 'When you get a stall like that, it develops into a little cyclone, and the turbulence just keeps going,' the weather man says.

Air, to start with, was tropical with a lot of moisture, and air like this always has a very high electrical potential. When cooler air came in and started circling around—turbulence.

The heaviest rainfall occurred between 6-8 p.m., and about 6:30, electricity began to go. Public Service counts 3,210 customers without power for three hours in areas defined by P.S. as the Rocky Hill, and Plainsboro-Kingston sectors. This means Princeton Township. Almost no trouble in the Borough.

Three Township houses were hit by lightning—Great Road, Drakes' Corner Road and Montadale Circle, all neighbors more or less, but there were no fires.

Wires Themselves Hit. Power went out because lightning struck the wires themselves and brought them down. 'An exceptional number over an extended period,' the Public Service spokesman said.

If only a transformer or other equipment had been hit, he explained, power would automatically have been switched to another unit. This kind of situation explains what happened in homes where lights simply dimmed for a moment and then came back.

About 70 men, in contrast to the usual two or three, came in to repair Public Service lines, and the company says, 'It was one of the most severe storms we've experienced.' No cost estimate of damage.

Telephone lines in some areas, notably at Borough Police headquarters, were out for about two hours. For all practical purposes, as a matter of fact, Borough Police were out of communication with the town for about two hours because their one line was overloaded.

Flooding, of course, in usual places like Quaker Bridge Road. But at Springdale Golf Club, a brook which normally holds four to six inches of water overflowed with such force that large railroad ties from a bridge were tossed 10-12 yards away from the stream.

Concrete slabs weighing 100 pounds or more were snapped in two, and iron rods were bowed.

Goldfish stocked in the small lake at the 18th hole were swept downstream in the brook, and some of them floated into a sand trap near the 12th green, about 50 yards away from the stream's normal course.

Golfers out on Saturday morning found unusual furrows in the traps, conceivably dug by bolts of lightning. Clubhouse personnel watching the storm around 8, after most of the rain had fallen, said flashes of lightning revealed the course as one vast lake: the ground was unable to absorb the torrential rainfall.

Downed wires around town made charred snakes in green grass, as they burned out from lightning strikes.

Did any householders remember, as they anxiously listened for the basement pumps to start, that "Hurricane Agnes" was precisely one year ago — on Thursday afternoon, June 22, 1972? "Agnes" brought only three inches to Princeton in a day and a half.

Compared to last week's Summer Solstice storm, "Agnes" was a drought.

BIKE RULES ENFORCED

Says Borough Chief. Regulations concerning bicycles are rigidly enforced in the Borough as are all other regulations, commented Chief Michael Carnevale Tuesday after he reported that he had received "a number of letters" concerning the accident in the Township earlier this month when a graduate student was killed while riding his bicycle on Route 206.

(For another letter on the accident, see "Mailbox", page 18.)

The tenor of the letters seemed to indicate concern over a lack of enforcement, Chief Carnevale stated. "In light of this citizens' concern," he said that he wanted to reassure the community that bicycle regulations were rigidly enforced. Many cyclists, he said, have been issued summonses in the past.

Pointing out that Princeton was a bike-oriented community, Chief Carnevale commented that consideration for the rights of the cyclist, motorist and pedestrian "will help us survive the hazards of suburban living."

"NO" TO OFFICES

On Valley Road. By a 3-2 decision, the Township Zoning Board last Thursday denied a pair of developers permission to build a two-story office complex on Valley Road and North Harrison. The property is in a residential zone.

Deciding votes against the project were cast by George Pinelli, Margaret Broadwater and William O'Shaugnessy. Board chairman James Ward and Felix Perone voted "yes."

The board decided that Dr. Arnold Hirsch and Dr. Robert Albahary had not shown sufficient proof of "special reasons" why they should be allowed to build offices in a residential zone. The zoners also felt there was not enough proof that the lot could not be used just as well for the residential purpose for which it was zoned. Traffic and business interests, they felt, would impair the residential neighborhood.

A. C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for the two doctors, said this week that no decision has yet been made about an appeal. If the developers decide to proceed, appeal would be made to Superior Court.

UNIVERSITY CRITICIZED

By Its Women's Organization. The Princeton University Women's Organization has made public a memo to Provost Sheldon Hackney discussing the University's recent progress report on affirmative action. While commending the University for implementation of new policies in areas such as maternity and childbirth, grievance procedures and the formation of Equal Employment Opportunity Committees to monitor affirmative action, the memo was sharply critical of hiring policies, statistical omissions, and what it termed "inadequate consultation with campus groups."

In particular, the memo criticized 'the concentration of women faculty in the lower, non-tenured ranks'. Princeton has had 14 openings for tenure positions in the past two years; all have been filled by men. Furthermore, "of 32 departments, more than 50% (17) had no women on the faculty through 1972-73". As for the non-teaching staff, 'the highest concentration of women new hires (93.7%) went into the lowest paying categories of employment.

The memo further criticized additional 'policy weaknesses in the field of hiring" — notably, the failure to set specific goals by department for faculty hiring, and the exclusion of women from the apprenticeship program for minorities in the crafts, 'despite the fact that at least one woman, according to the records, was suficiently motivated to apply'.

In addition, the memo pointed out statistical omissions in the report, including failure to provide comparative attrition rates for women and men faculty a thorough statistical picture of the position occupied by women in the non-teaching staffs of the University'. Insufficient documentation of the University's efforts to recruit women and minority candidates for job openings was also noted.

In conclusion, after pointing out the University's failure to consult with relevant campus groups including the Women's Organization, the memo requested both a meeting with Provost Hackney and closer liaison with the two Equal Employment Opportunity Committees. (For a related story, see page 23.)

TWO LOSE LICENSES

For Drunken Driving. Two Princeton residents have lost their licenses for two years and been fined $210 for drunken driving.

West Windsor magistrate William Bunting imposed the suspension and fine Monday night in Borough Court against Antonio Pirone Jr., 49, 340 Ewing Street, and Junior H. Thomas, 71, 18 Green Street. Both pleaded guilty.

Priscilla H. Barnum, 52, 35 Linwood Circle, pleaded not guilty to a stop-sign infraction but was fined $20, while James R. Leuper, 19, and Peter Kranzler, both of Rocky Hill, paid $15 and $20 for red light violations.

In Township Court last week, acting magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. fined four area residents $15 each for careless driving. They are: Kurt J. Bauman, 19, 631 Mt. Lucas Road; Debra L. Lemenshow, 17, River Road, Belle Mead; Ronald K. Campbell, 17, 247 Harrison Street; and Peter C. Bonette, 17, 59 Meadow Brook Drive.

Also fined $15 each were Laura S. Klinger, 67, 71 Quaker Road, and Margaret K. Warner, 45, Cleveland Circle, Skillman, both stop-sign violations; Wanda L. Kaminsky, 26, 4 Quaker Road, improper entering or leaving a highway; Jean Michaud, 30, 11 Leigh Avenue, failure to keep right; and Mark Jagulli, 2645 Main Street, Lawrenceville, operating a motorcycle without the presence of a licensed driver.

In a criminal charge, Mark W. Perry, 19, 67 Marion Road W. was fined $50 for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

THEFT REPORT

Jacket, Bike Taken. A jacket and a 10-speed bike were among the articles reported stolen last week to Township police.

Martin E. Wolfson, 183 Bertrand Drive, told police that his jacket containing his wallet and set of keys was taken Sunday after he had left it lying on a blanket in the Community Park Pool area. He lost $10.

David M. Lynton, 665 Snowden Lane, reported that his 10-speed bicycle, which he valued at $100, had been taken Thursday from his garage. Police said that the thief had apparently entered the garage through an unlocked door.

Around 1 Saturday afternoon, Michael Otte, 65 Phillips Drive, Lawrenceville, parked his car on River Road to go canoeing. He locked it.

When he returned at 5:30, he discovered the left front vent window had been forced. He lost a set of golf clubs and a stereo player with two speakers and turntable with a combined value of $150.

In the Borough, Mrs. Nancy Feldman, 197 Witherspoon Street, listed the theft of her $325 camera.

Police report that a rear bathroom window had been knocked out to gain entry. Chief Michael Carnevale said that the Zeis-Ikon camera bore the serial number P14057.

A wallet containing $25 was stolen Thursday morning from a car parked in St. Paul's Cemetery while the occupants were visiting a grave site.

Chief Carnevale declined to reveal the name of the victim. The car, he said, had been left unlocked.

later released to their parents after each was charged with shoplifting. The youth allegedly took a slot car from Center Stationers and the girl a $4 halter top from Bamberger's both in the Princeton Shopping Center.

In the Borough, juvenile officer Douglas Watson processed a 16-year-old Princeton youth after he allegedly shoplifted a ring at Clayton's, 17 Palmer Square.

His description was radioed to patrol cars and the suspect was apprehended later by Ptl. Ronald Holliday at Witherspoon and Lytle Streets.

Charged with Marijuana Possession A 16 year-old Township youth was arrested at 7:45 Sunday night by Ptl. Mario Musso as he sat in a car on Drakes' Corner Road.

He has been charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana and released to his parents, pending action by a Mercer County juvenile court.

The sun will shine intermittently, the Man reports, agreeing that rain in surplus quantities has been a way of life around here for many months.

NEW OFFICER NAMED

To Borough Force. John W Holcombe, 24, of 15 Railroad Place, Hopewell, has been named a probationary officer on the Borough police force. He fills a vacancy created when Ptl. Arthur Jackson resigned this month for personal reasons.

A graduate of Princeton High School, Officer Holcombe was a member of the U.S Army and served in Vietnam. He was discharged in February, 1971.

He is attending Trenton State College where he is 15 hours short of attaining a degree in his major field of criminal justice.

He was selected, Chief Michael Carnevale said, from a list that was the result of a police examination given applicants last September. The force's most recent addition, Ptl. William Fitch, was also selected from the same list.

Chief Carnevale also announced that Ptl. Peter Hanley has completed eight weeks of basic training at the Police Training Center in Sea Girt. He graduated June 15 as a member of the 136th class at the Center where more than 8,000 police officers throughout the state have received training.

Ptl. Hanley has been assigned to Sgt. John J Bellow's uniform patrol, Chief Carnevale said.

Sen. Clifford P. Case

PHASE 4 AWAITED

Sen. Case Reports on Freeze.

(Following is the text of a statement by Sen. Clifford P. Case (R., N.J.) from Washington on the food price spiral and federal attempts to control inflation.)

Since the end of the Phase II economic program last January, every American has had to contend with constantly rising prices. While all price increases are unsettling, the most burdensome are those involving basic elements in the cost of living — food and shelter.

Even under Phase II, food costs and interest charges were never directly controlled. However, the restraints on the rest of the economic system, on wages and prices, and to some extent on rents, tended to slow the food price spiral.

But the abandonment of formal economic controls in January in favor of a voluntary system with general guidelines brought economic havoc. Food prices spurted upwards with an estimated overall increase of 12 percent, and a much greater increase for meats, poultry, eggs and cheese. Buffeted by rising feed costs, and especially red meat prices, consumers resorted to boycotts — but even this could not reverse the tide and drive down prices. The announcement of a "ceiling" on meat prices had little effect, since the ceiling was set at a very high level and did not affect other food prices.

The food price spiral was further stimulated by poor weather in the farm belt, dwindling feed grain supplies, and purchases by foreign countries of wheat, corn, soybeans and American beef at high prices.

Congress Not Briefed. Congress had no forewarning of the shift in policy to a voluntary control program. When the administration's action was taken, I opposed it. It seemed obvious to me that prices would rise dramatically, as they did, working special hardship on low and middle income families.

During the month of March, when Congress considered the renewal of the Economic Stabilization Act which gives the President emergency power to control the economy, I supported a number of amend

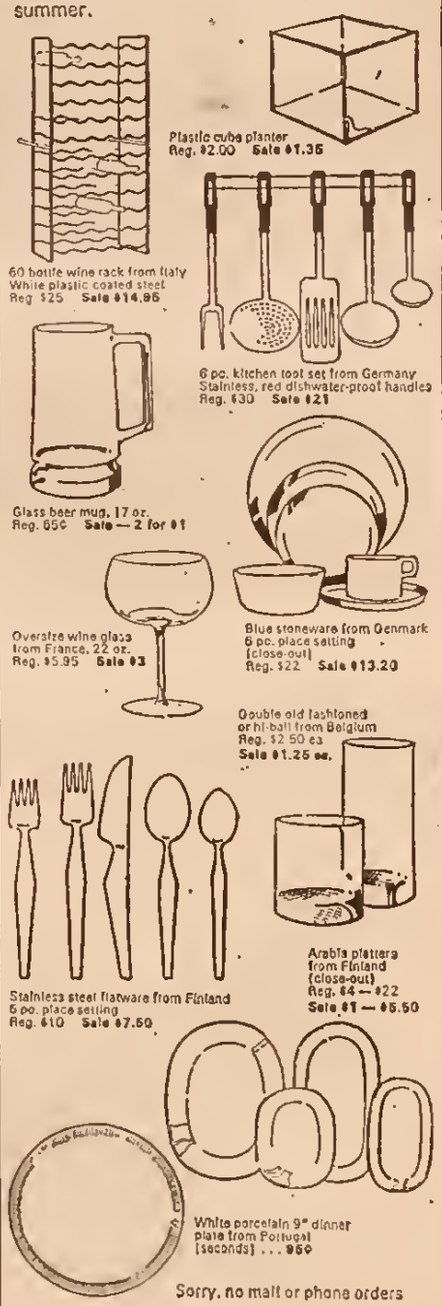
Spring cleaning sale in June? Outrageous! 25–50% off

We seem to be late again with our spring housecleaning, but you know how it is. But summer is here and we need space for many new things so we've gone and reduced prices outrageously on a lot of our regular merchandise in every department. Better hurry in right away and take advantage of our feverish state. It won't happen again till next summer.



Sorry, no mail or phone orders

HIPPOS READ, TOO: Although it's tough when your eyes are in the top of your head. Chris Keane, Frances Johnston and Michele Keane are three of the 15 Princeton school students who worked away with papier-mache and LOTS (ask the librarian) of paint to make a collection of monsters. The animals will join the kids this summer in the Public Library's vacation festivities. That thing on the back of the hippo is an — uh — well, smaller monster. And wait'll you see the octopus!

ments to restore controls and halt the price spiral. Many of these amendments, including one I proposed to control apartment rent increases, were passed by the Senate. Unfortunately, the Senate's efforts were blocked in the House of Representatives after a massive lobbying effort.

All the while the economic indicators continued to tell an unhappy tale. The April, May and June reports made it clear that continued adherence to a voluntary program could lead to a great crisis.

Action by the administration became imperative. Finally, on June 13 the President announced a 60-day freeze of all prices except rents, interest rates and raw agricultural products, to be followed by a system of mandatory controls now being worked out.

I welcome the effort though I believe it should include rents and interest rates, which it does not. Too, because prices are still frozen at their highest levels in years, there will be little immediate relief for the average family. Finally, because a freeze is not, by nature, a flexible policy, many small business and industrial firms may be caught in a real squeeze.

Nonetheless, better late than never. During the temporary freeze, the administration has an opportunity to develop a really workable program to take effect this coming August. In the light of the experience of the past six months, any new program, to be effective, must win the confidence of the public if inflation is to be restrained and and the economy steadied.

TO STUDY ABROAD

Under Exchange Program. Geoffrey Siebens, son of Mrs. Allen C. Siebens of 4 Hunter Road, has been chosen by the national committee of the English Speaking Union to spend a year in England under its Student Exchange Program. A graduate of Exeter Academy, he will attend Fettes College in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Announcement was made last week that the Princeton branch of the English Speaking Union has selected Miss Nina Maruca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Maruca of Province Line Road, and William A. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith of 19 Allwood Drive, Trenton, to join the program. They will attend, respectively, Benenden School in Cranbrook, Kent, and St. Lawrence College, Ramsgate, Kent.

UNITED FUND MOVES

To New Location. With the help of a number of volunteers, the Princeton Area United Community Fund has moved from the Italian American Sportsmens Club to 221 Witherspoon Street.

Helping with the move were men from Bohren's, the 100th Civil Affairs Unit, Nottingham Way, Trenton, The Red Cross, the United Fund Staff.

The goal for the 1973 campaign will be $625,000 to cover needs of organizations serving 13 communities.

TWO COURSES OFFERED

By Princeton Red Cross. The youth council of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will sponsor classes in basic cooking and needlework for boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 10. The classes will begin July 9, and will be held at the chapter house. Both courses are offered on Mondays or Wednesdays from 9:30 —noon, and will run for four weeks.

In an effort to "get back to basics," the needlework course will include:following a pattern, basic sewing, knitting and crocheting stitches, and will stress the proper care of sewing supplies. The cooking course will range from the frying of an egg to the making of homemade soup and biscuits. This class will also stress kitchen safety, table etiquette, and proper clean up procedures.

Classes will be taught by youth and adult volunteers and the size of the classes will be limited. There will be no charge for the courses or the supplies, but students may be asked to bring their own kitchen or sewing implements.

Those who would like to register for the courses, or would like further information, should call Maryann Fazio, Youth Director, Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, 182 North Harrison Street, 924-2404. Applicants will be accepted on a first come, first served basis due to the limit on class size.

BOROUGH MAN ARRESTED

On Forged Check Charge. George McGowan, 26, 246 John Street, was arrested Thursday by Det. Timothy Hulzing who charged him with possession of stolen property.

According to police, McGowan attempted to cash a stolen check he had forged for $50 at the Princeton Bank & Trust Company on June 8. He was later released in his own recognizance, pending his appearance in Borough court.

Unauthorized Solicitation. A Kingston man was charged with unauthorized solicitation last week by Borough police.

News Of The THEATRES

"TWELFTH NIGHT"

For Summer. The new Princeton Theatre Company that will be playing this summer at the Fine Arts Theatre of Rider Collge, has decided to present once again Daniel Berkowitz' production of "Twelfth Night," the one he directed three summers ago for Summer Intime.

It will be given the weekend of July 19-22, and again July 26-29. Thursday through Saturday performances are at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday performances are at 7:30 p.m.

"Twelfth Night" will take the place of the Westminster Choir College production of "Greenwillow," which had to be withdrawn because of production problems.

With the addition of the Shakespeare, the Princeton Theatre Company now has five shows for its summer season. The others are "A Thurber Carnival," "Blithe Spirit," "The Alchemist" and "Under Milk Wood."

For "Twelfth Night," Mr. Berkowitz once again will have Richard Ferrugio as Sir Toby Belch and Larry Strichman as Feste the Clown. Anne Louise Hoffmann, who played Wanda June last year for Intime, will be Viola and Marcia Ellian, who was Penlope in the same play, will be Olivia. Other in the cast are Alice White, Mark Capri, Walt Jones, Ron Orbach and David Greenan.

THEATRE AT PHS

For Summer. "Night Must Fall," the classic Emlyn Williams chiller, will open the summer season for the new Princeton Summer Repertoric heatre, formed by theatre people who have been working together at Princeton High.

Auditions for "Night Must Fall" will be held this Thursday at 7 p.m. in Outbuilding No. 74, at PHS. Rehearsals will be held there, too, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Performances will be in the high school Band Room, at dates to be announced.

Anyone of high school or college age may audition. Some experience will be helpful because rehearsal time will be limited to about three weeks.

Lawrence Mansier, drama director at Princeton High, is behind the new "Repertorie Theatre Company," joined by Robert Little, Steven Kolmes, K. G. Hawthorne, Kevin Colman and Liz Jacobs. All Mr. Mansier's associates are graduates of PHS with the class of 1972.

"Night Must Fall" has a cast of three men and four women. There will be another casting in early August for a comedy, yet to be chosen.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 799-1834 during the day, or 799-1123 after 5 p.m.

"TOM SAWYER"

This Thursday. Children's theatre will begin this Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in New Hope when the Bucks County Playhouse presents "Tom Sawyer." It will be given again this Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Next Thursday's children's play will be "Young Robinson Crusoe" and on July 12, Bucks County will give "Alice Through the Looking Glass." Both will be presented at the 1:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. hours. Tickets are $2.25.

Jus' Gimme That High-Steppin' Couperin Rag

Couperin, sure, and Bach without a doubt, but ragtime? Do a harpsichord?

Why not? asks Dr. Frances Cole, who has composed the current Harpsichord Festival that's been going on all week at Westminster Choir College.

She's invited 90 year-old ragtime artist Eubie Blake to visit Princeton this Thursday afternoon for the Harpsichord Marathon due to start at 1 p.m. and last until. Mr. Blake, who doesn't quite date back as far as Couperin, but is closer than a lot of other harpsichordists, will play selected piano rags on the harpsichord.

He's already had a lesson on the instrument, Westminster spokesmen say. Dr. Cole, who has transcribed for harpsichord the works of black composers such as Nathaniel Dett and Howard Swanson, had originally thought of playing some ragtime herself at the Marathon, but when Mr. Blake agreed to come, she bowed out.

Four Centuries Spanned. More than 30 musicians will perform this Thursday. Music will start with the 17th century, and come up to the present, offering pop, rock and jazz as well as serious contemporary works.

Ligeti, a contemporary Italian composer will be represented, for example So will Jazzman Slam Stewart, who is almost as classic on bass as Eubie Blake is with ragtime on a keyboard.

During the Marathon, listeners can hear several harpsichords together in various Triple and Double concerti, and even an electric harpsichord, played to the accompaniment of Rameau turning over in his grave.

There will be poetry readings to harpsichord accompaniment, and instrumentalists on flute, oboe, bassoon, violin, cello and electric guitar, although in exactly what combinations — who knows?

Dancers from the Princeton Regional Ballet will perform, too, and the program says "five" vocalists.

The format of the afternoon is informal. For a $3 admission charge, the public may wander in at any time.

Festival Began Sunday. Dr Cole opened the Festival Sunday by playing Couperin, Rameau, Bach and Scarlatti, plus her transcriptions of Bartok and black composers.

This Thursday morning, before the Marathon, Igor Kipnis will talk about the Bach "Goldberg" Variations, which he will have performed the night before.

The Festival also stars Sylvia Marlowe, discussing 20th century works for the harpsichord, Ralph Kirkpatrick, and Blanche Winogron who will give a program this Thursday at 8 p.m. featuring music for the rectangular harpsichords that were popular in 16th and 17th centuries, as well as music for the virginals. All concerts are open to the public for a $3 charge.

Getting back to ragtime — Eubie Blake is the composer of "Charlestown Rag," "Fizz Water" and "Chevy Chase." With Noble Sissle, he produced "Shuffle Along" in 1921, one of the outstanding Broadway musicals of its day. Its hit songs were "I'm Just Wild About Harry" and "Love Will Find a Way." He also composed music for "Blackbirds of 1930," "Chocolate Dandies" and "Folies Bergere."

"Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" will be given its final performances this weekend. Shows have been scheduled for 8:30 p.m. this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 6 p.m. this Sunday and 2 p.m. this Saturday.

PRINCE

Jesus Christ Superstar. A hip, contemporary rock opera that brings the reverent, Biblical Jesus Christ down from the stained glass windows.

Fundamentalists may be jarred at seeing crowds wearing long hair, blue jeans and T shirts, but the film has been embraced by the young people as one that speaks in their idiom. The rock opera itself is a mixture of musical styles, pop culture and religion.

Tom Neeley, who had played Jesus in Broadway and Los Angeles stage productions, stars in the title role. Carl Anderson is Judas; Yvonne Elliman, Mary Magdalene; and Barry Dennen, Pontius Pilate.

MONTGOMERY

The Harrad Experiment. Based on the book by Robert H. Rimmer, which became a classic among the college crowd, the Harrad Experiment is part soft core sex and part youth film masquerading as a fictional study of sexual mores. The resultant nudity interspersed with lectures is a bore.

In the sexual dictatorship of the Harrad Experiment, students are assigned roommates of the opposite sex and told they must live together for 30 days before switching partners. Nudity is not so much encouraged in class as demanded. The class is much more likely to be Advanced Yoga than English Lit.

Despite the control and care in enrollment, the students are about as stereotyped as a bunch as usual. Predicted pairings such as the resident stud with the campus virgin generate plenty of I'm-not-ready-yet scenes, which pad out the running time until the climactic capitulation.

James Whitmore and Tippi Hedren as the resident professor and his wife stand out only in that they get to keep their clothes on throughout. Not so the rest of the cast, which are motley enough in the buff that the clothing industry is the only one likely to enjoy this film. (R)

PLAYHOUSE

The Sound of Music, Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer star in Sound of Music, which, since its release in March, 1965 has become one of the most profitable and most popular musicals of all time.

GARDEN

The Poseidon Adventure (now playing) is a cracking good adventure story that never tries to be more than pure entertainment. A commercial hit much in the genre of "Airport".

The plot is an old one — gather a group of characters together, subject them to some form of disaster and see how each reacts under stress. In this film, based on a book by Paul Gallico, the "disaster" is a giant tidal wave that overturns an ocean liner while the majority of passengers are celebrating New Year's Eve in the main dining room. Everybody is now upside down, and in order to escape drowning, the survivors must work their way from the dining room to the engine room at the bottom of the ship.

Taking part in the slow trek to safety are such old pros as Shelly Winter, Stella Stevens, (a former prostitute who starts wondering whether some of her fellow passengers might not be former customers as well) Gene Hackman, Ernest Borgnine, Carol Lynley and Red Buttons.

As might be expected, there are a lot of dead extras floating around and the audience may be a bit surprised as just who goes and who stays. The fact that it is pure chance as much as anything else that carries the survivors along makes for excellent suspense. Sure-fire, edge-of-your-seat entertainment. (PG)

SEVERAL PROGRAMS SET By Museum Planetarium.

Satellites, sun watching and special shows for youngsters comprise the three main segments of the July-August program planned by the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium. There is no admission charge for any of the various activities.

Titled "Exploring the Earth from Space," the daily lecture throughout the period will take a look at present and future plans for earth satellites. It will be given at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. each weekday from July 2 through August 31 and at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. each Saturday, Sunday and holiday from July 7 through Labor Day. Children under seven will not be admitted.

Special shows for parents with small youngsters will be presented at 10 a.m. each Friday from July 6 through August 31.

The sun watching segment of the July-August schedule calls for observation of the daytime sky through Planetarium telescopes at 2 o'clock each weekday afternoon, weather permitting. There is no age limitation for these sessions.

In addition to the regular programming, the Planetarium is planning a special 3 p.m. Thursday lecture series for July 19, July 26 and August 2. Subjects, in order, will be "A Tour of the Milky Way," "Sky Highlights of 1973" and "Origin of the Solar System." Again, children under seven will not be admitted.

The State Museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. It will be closed on July 4.

ANNUALS IN ABUNDANCE At Obal's. For three decades, Obal Garden Market has been serving the garden needs of Princeton and the surrounding area. In addition to the many trees, shrubs and flowers, Walter Obal has stocked his shop with many helpful materials.

If you will be away this summer, the Auto Plant Caretaker by Agro can water your loved houseplants and give them nutrients for a period up to five weeks, $2.99. However, if instead you are planning to remain home, a Disston cordless electric shrub trimmer will help the chores go a lot faster, $29.99

The shop also has a huge selection of planters, which will add to the enjoyment of any terrace or front steps. Some examples are a ceramic swan that comes in white, black, or muted green, $7.50; strawberry pots in clay or ceramic, $7.95 and $12.50; hanging redwood tubs, $5.49; and Jiffy tubs that look like black cast iron, but are light and unbreakable, $5.29 to $10.95.

AT THE GARDEN MARKET: Walter Obal still has a wide variety of annuals, geraniums, impatiens, begonias and more, in stock at his Garden Market on Alexander Road.

Other ceramic items include huge round planters for $29.50 and small upright birdbaths, $18.

Annuals Still Available. Obal still has many annuals that could be planted in any of the above. There are geraniums; impatiens in several colors; begonias; periwinkle in pink, lavender and striped varieties; marigolds and snapdragons. In general, these cost less than a dollar for enough plants to start a lovely planter.

Other flowers that caught our eye were the gorgeous lilies called Harmony and Enchantment that were in full bloom, $2.25. We also admired the beautiful large white and blue clematis flowers. Obal has a full line of these and all varieties are $3.25. Then there is a handsome groundcover called Euonymous Coloratus (winter creeper), $9.50 a flat, and a large clump of iva lace, $1.25 a pot.

Before planting these, it might be wise to test the soil. Obal has several soil tester kits from $6.95 that tell what the soil needs to insure the best results. Obal Garden Market is on Alexander Road and is open Monday through Saturday from 8 until 5.

you do the finishing.

Another nice feature is the units are stackable because many of the cabinets, bookcases and chests have the same dimensions. It is possible to construct innumerable combinations that look like built-in wall units.

A bookcase 36 inches high with three adjustable shelves costs $57, and a chest 30 inches wide with five drawers costs $99. In addition to these basic pieces, there is some fascinating furniture. We admired the corner desk that can be used with any of the units measuring 16 inches deep and 24 inches high to form a wall combination, $55.

Storage Bed. However, our favorite piece was the storage bed. It has three drawers on each side, easily moves on concealed casters, and comes with its own fitted mattress. The 30-inch wide bed can also double as a couch, $170, but if you prefer one closer to a standard width, the 36 inch one is $220.

All the maple furniture comes with a choice of round-tapered or square legs. However, a recessed base is available and this gives the furniture a built-in look.

Country Workshop, a Newark-based firm, has been making furniture in hardwoods for 20 years, and although maple is its biggest seller, most every piece can be ordered in ready-to-oil solid walnut.

The store also has some handsome butcher block-type tables that can be custom made to any size with either an "H" base or a leg and apron base. A striped walnut and oak table 30 inches by 60 inches is $188 for the top and a 36 inch round striped oak table is $90 for the top. The bases are priced separately.

The store is owned by three couples and primarily operated by the wives — Linda Milstein, Marcia Dowshen and Chris Leidy. They supply a sheet of finishing instructions and have stocked the store with some of each finish.

The pieces are already wonderfully smooth, and while they suggest an optional sanding to bring out the grain of the wood, it is not necessary. The finishing requires only a few steps and the shop has several finished pieces on display. For instance, we saw a nice bookcase that had been given a teak stain and then finished with one coat of polyurethane varnish.

Country Workshop II is located on U.S. Route 1 (next to the Prince Theatre), and it is open 12 to 5 Monday to Friday, 10 to 5 on Saturday, and 7 to 9 Thursday and Friday evenings.

AT ROBERT VARGA'S

Designer Clothes. Robert Varga's Lawrence store, located in its own beautiful white building on the east side of U.S. Route 1 at Hopatcong Drive, is a spacious and relaxing place to shop. It includes three departments — junior sportswear, misses medium-priced sportswear and designer clothes.

In fact, this store probably has the largest selection of Anne Klein's designs. She has a 100 percent cotton yellow and orange gingham check pants, $80 and a waist-length jacket to match, $75. Teaming up with these is an orange-red halter top with a collar and tab front, $46.

Then for going into Fall, she has designed a denim blue chambray line of clothes. They have red top-stitching and red denim print shirts, $30. Made of polyester and cotton and fully lined, the line includes pants, $50; a zippered jacket with an elastic waist, $56, and a shirt with a gathered waistband, $50.

The pants outfit is definitely the word in other lines too. By Blassport, we admired white arnel pants and a baseball jacket, $114, and by Jones a red pair of slacks with a jacket having a drawstring waist, $61.

For Evening. For evening wear there are some silky caftans by Anne Fogarty in a soft ping and blue mosaic print, $68. We also loved a long shirtwaist dress in a natural color. It has a tucked front and back, wooden buttons and a woven rope belt, $50.

Then by Giorgini there are palazzo pants in pale green or melon with white dots, $78; and to go with these you can choose a V-neck bare top, $20, or a long-sleeved shirt, $30.

The junior department is finding that the young girls are greatly favoring dresses, and Robert Varga already has some transitional ones. By Young Innocents there is a wallpaper print, with the stripes wider and bolder than usual. A shirtwaist style with long sleeves and a ribbed elastic waist, it is available in tones of burgundy or brown, $32.

However, this department also has pants and jackets. Another new item is the brushed denim in blue jean styles with snaps and yellow piping. A pair of pants costs $14 and a waist-length jacket, $20.

Throughout the store there are halters, midriff tops, and shirts to wear with any of the pants. There are the soft Saint Clair shirts from Paris in pale colors and rooster prints, $28; a Givenchy shirt with a "G" print forming a geometric pattern, $30; a navy or red blouse with huge white dots and a five-button cuff by Ellen Tracy, $16; and a knit gingham shirt in rose, yellow or green by Crazy Horse, $16.

The Lawrence store of Robert Varga is open Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 until 9, and Tuesday and Saturday from 10 until 5:30.

Pharmacy Footnotes

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm.

In 1854 a serious epidemic of cholera occurred in London. A record of the cases was made on a map of the city which finally revealed a concentration of cases in the vicinity of the Broad Street well. This study was probably the first of its kind in an effort to control community health. At the outbreak of the Civil War, smallpox was the only disease where protection was possible by vaccination. By the end of the war, Louis Pasteur was at work; and soon after that, vaccination became a common way to fight epidemics.

The Governor's VIEW

By Gov. William T. Cahill

'NOBODY LIKES TO LOSE'

Cahill Reflects on Election. I must admit that I had, and still have, very mixed emotions about the results of the recent primary election.

Nobody likes to lose. It's a blow to your pride, your self esteem. But mixed with that reaction is an opposing one of relief. The results meant that the tremendous burdens of the office of the Governor would now soon pass to someone else's shoulders.

I have no regrets about passing on those responsibilities. During the past three-and-a-half years I worked at the job of Chief Executive, and I am proud of what we have accomplished. Our efforts have had positive and lasting results that will benefit the citizens of New Jersey for generations still to come. This sense of satisfaction will be my most cherished possession when I leave office six months from now. Here are some of the things I'm proud-est of:

We instituted the Department of Environmental Protection and gave a whole new thrust, new direction to preserving our natural resources and our heritage and to restoring and safeguarding our environment in New Jersey. The Department, under Commissioner Richard Sullivan, has moved vigorously to end pollution of our air and water, to protect our beaches and wetlands, our forests and streams from those who would exploit them for their personal profit and advantage.

Higher Education Aided. Considerable progress was made in expanding facilities for higher education. I'm particularly proud of having united the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry and the Rutgers University Medical School to form the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. As a result of that action, the number of medical and dental students has nearly doubled in the last few years, and will more than double again when construction of facilities is completed in the near future.

After several years of difficult negotiations, we were successful in involving the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey — and its huge financial resources — in the mass transit problems of northern New Jersey. Work is now proceeding on a $650 million project to improve commuter rail transportation between northern New Jersey and downtown New York.

We implemented the recommendations of the Governor's Management Commission, that resulted in savings to the taxpayers of New Jersey of many millions of dollars every year. Not only was there a direct dollar saving, but there was an increase in efficiency and performance on the part of our State employees.

We instituted the New Jersey Lottery, both weekly and daily, that has become a model for similar operations throughout the nation. It provided an entire new source of revenue for the State that is annually pouring millions of dollars into our educational facilities and into the facilities for our State institutions. The lottery funds are restricted to these two purposes by law.

Sports Room Seen. The path has been blazed for bringing major professional sports to New Jersey with the start of the Meadowlands Sports Complex.

Consumer Protection is now a reality in New Jersey, under the dynamic direction of a former Assemblywoman, who is, incidentally, one of a number of women appointed to important executive posts in the last few years.

I feel these are some of the more important mile-stones and I'm happy and proud that they were accomplished during my administration.

Meanwhile, I still have six months remaining of my term, and I intend to continue to carry out my responsibilities as Governor during every minute of them.

UP AND DOWN, BUT SIDEWAYS? This single engine Navion can fly sideways because of the "Dumbo-ear" fins mounted on each wing. It's part of Princeton University research project aimed at giving future short takeoff and landing passengers a smoother ride. Story, this page.

Topics Of The Town

White Pine Lane, graduated from Princeton High School, has over 200 volunteer hours at the Medical Center and will attend the University of New Hampshire.

Linda Olsen, Mosher Road, Griggstown, graduated from Franklin High School will attend the School of Practical Nursing at the Medical Center of Princeton.

Funds for this purpose are made available from dues paid by Auxiliary members.

DUMBO EARS USED

To Find Smart Answer. Princeton University scientists have modified a conventional plane so that it can fly sideways.

The sideways motion is part of a variable stability flight test program conducted by the University to simulate some of the conditions that will be encountered by the next generation of short take off and landing (STOL) aircraft.

The side forces are obtained by mounting large "Dumbo-ear" fins on each wing of an otherwise conventional single-engine Navion Mono plane. The "ears" are modified glider tail surfaces, providing an area of 30 square feet or one-sixth of the wing area. The outside fins don't make the Navion look like a STOL aircraft, but they help it fly like one.

To simulate the flying qualities of future giant STOL aircraft, the tiny Navion flys a steep STOL landing path of six to 10 degrees at a slow 80 mph. In this precarious attitude, movement of the wing fins produces side forces as if the plane were bumped by strong gusts. The ability of the pilot to react and correct the flight path is measured.

By adjusting the fin angle, the vanes may also be used to simulate crosswind landing conditions. Through the aid of complex electronic gear and computers, designers are finding the answers to such questions as how large should control surfaces be and what sort of ride can the passenger expect.

David R. Ellis, the university's test pilot and manager of the program, comments: "The side-force generators have given us an effective and interesting research tool. They will enable us to generate new information that will be of substantial benefit to engineers designing all types of aircraft."

BUDGETS REVIEWED

By United Community Fund. As needs greatly exceed the amount of money expected to be raised, the budget committee of the Princeton Area United Community Fund is busy trying to pare down requests from member agencies from $763,957 to $625,000.

The committee met in April to review criteria for establishing priorities and to schedule meetings with the agencies. Since then 11 subcommittees have been meeting with agency representatives, reviewing budgets and requests for financial assistance.

The full committee met again May 22 and 23 to develop recommendations, which were passed on to the organization's board of trustees June 6 by Murray H. Reich, budget committee chairman.

This year's total amount requested by agencies, $763,957, exceeds by $50,000 any of the requests of the past three years. It also surpasses by an even larger margin the amount actually raised in any of the last three years: $571,750 in 1970, $547,000 in 1971; and $588,950 in 1972.

Mr. Reich challenged the budget committee to come in under a target goal of $625,000, an amount that the campaign committee for 1973 believes it can raise in this fall's campaign.

Chairmen of the subcommittees include Chandler Wentworth, Mrs. Barbara Fields, Roger O. Sims, Mrs. Daniel DeBow, Mrs. Patricia Cherry, A. L. Casey, John Gwynn, Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, Carl Kurlander, Walter Baker, and Mrs. Ann Erdman.

The budget committee's assistant chairman is Richard L. Gilbert Jr.

Watch Watergate

A "Watergate Open House" is being held at the Fund for Peace Education offices, 163 Nassau. A television set has been installed so that anyone who wishes may stop by and watch the hearings.

Mrs. Pat Roberts, co-ordinator of the Fund, suggests that the spot, in the center of town, provides "a likely spot for workers on a lunch break, shoppers or visitors to Princeton."

NEW NUMBERS LISTED

For Train Information. Penn Central Transportation Company has inaugurated a new telephone system to speed information for its New Jersey Suburban Service passengers between Trenton and New York.

New, local telephone numbers have been installed in all communities with stations along Penn Central's mainline in New Jersey. Calls to these numbers will be automatically switched, toll-free, to the new information center in New York City.

New Jersey suburban service passengers are advised to start using the new numbers immediately. The number to call in Princeton is 924-9474.

Amtrak patrons, however, are advised not to call these numbers for information and reservations. Personnel attending these phones have no information concerning Amtrak trains or service.

Amtrak patrons must call (212) 736-4545 in New York City or toll-free (800) 523-5700 anywhere in the State of New Jersey for such information.

"We feel it is in the best public interest to separate the phone systems for New Jersey Suburban Service and Amtrak," remarked Jay M. Gilmore, system general manager.

Merwick Elects First Guest Council Chairman

Since Charles Potts became a guest at The Princeton Medical Center's Merwick Unit last June, he rarely misses an afternoon tea, a midweek movie or an outdoor barbeque.

Today, at age 79, the former Dayton (N.J.) painter is "looking for new ways to stay young."

His search, according to Merwick officials, was largely responsible last week for Mr. Potts' election as the Rehabilitation and Extended Care Unit's First Guest Advisory Council chairman.

"When we sponsor a social function," observes Merwick Unit Manager Benjamin Accardi, "we find Mr. Potts at the forefront of activity."

Natural Choice. "He was a natural choice to provide us with suggestions on how our social and recreational programs can be expanded to meet the needs and desires of our guests."

"I've got some ideas of my own, alright," the new chairman responds, "but I'm going with the people; I'm going to listen before I talk."

Although his election to the advisory post is "the first office I ever held," Mr. Potts is quick to point out he's "no stranger to politics."

"I've done a lot of political work," he emphasizes with a sly grin, "don't worry about that. At one time, I even crossed over from one side to the other."

Medical Center Administrator Walter A. Seligman, commented: "We're counting on Mr. Potts and other council members to assist us in developing a real awareness to the needs of our guests.

"Community". While we can provide the proper medical environment and organize occupational and recreational therapy programs, only the guests' can create the feeling of community."

OPINION SAMPLE. Charles Potts, chairman of the newly-formed Merwick Guest Advisory Council, samples opinion of the rehabilitation and extended care unit's guests. Story, this page.

To foster that "feeling," Merwick officials are encouraging the Guest Advisory Council to consider a wide range of social-oriented activities: publication of a newspaper, creation of a welcoming committee, additions to a social calendar which already offers daily activities.

New programming will be developed during semi-monthly meetings of the council, open to any of Merwick's 93 guests. In the interim, the new council chairman has converted his private room at the Extended Care Unit into what he terms "a mini town hall."

"I expect a lot of guests will stop by," predicts Mr. Potts, "and I'll always be home to hear from them."

TOUR BEING PLANNED Of Old Lawrenceville Homes. A group of women are meeting this summer to select homes from the National Historic District of Lawrenceville which will be opened to the public during a fall House Tour on Saturday, September 29.

The tour will be sponsored by the Presbyterian Church of Lawrenceville as a part of its year-long 275th anniversary celebration.

Co-chairmen of the House Tour committee are Mrs. Raymond H. Dean and Mrs. William J. Jackson. They are assisted by Mrs. Raymond D. Allen, flowers; Mrs. Bruce B. Burnett and Mrs. William Schroeder, refreshments, Mrs. James B. Campbell and Mrs. H. Dana Fearon III, hostesses; Mrs. Chase C. Porter, tickets; Mrs. Miles Truesdell, crafts; and Mrs. John C. Waldron, publicity.

ADVICE GIVEN On Avoiding "Swimmer's Ear." Area youngsters and their parents can avoid the discomfort of "swimmer's ear" this summer through the simple -- and painless -- application of rubbing alcohol.

That advice was offered this week by the Pediatrics Department of The Medical Center at Princeton as rising temperatures prompted increased attendance at area pools.

Prevention against the infection, according to Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman, department chairman, involves application by medicine dropper of household rubbing alcohol in each ear canal.

By tilting the head during application, the pediatrician explained, drops can free the ear of water, the common cause of "swimmer's ear" infection. The alcohol and excess water can then be drained from the ear by turning the head in the opposite direction.

FIRST TO JOIN THE PARTY: Anthony Mangono of 942 Alexander Road, Princeton Junction, was the first to come to Nassau Savings & Loan's First Birthday Party in Princeton Junction. Greeting him is Walter Foster, President of Nassau Savings, while Mrs. Rachel Golletto, teller, looks on. Anthony is in the eighth grade in St. Paul's School here. His hobbies are auto racing and baseball. (For additional details of Nassau Savings' Birthday Party, see page 23.)

& Fabric Shop at 354 Ewing Street, from the Princeton Shopping Center.

The resolution was passed because PCDO did not believe the proposed move of the Substation was in the best interest of the Princeton community for the reasons that it:

1. Would create increased traffic in an area that is principally residential.

2. Would increase greatly hazards to pedestrians proposing to use the facility and, in particular, to young children walking to and from school.

3. Would not provide sufficient parking space for those desiring to use the Sub-station.

4. Would violate the Township zoning laws in that it would increase a prior nonconforming use.

5. Would result in a decrease in the use of the Sub-station, with a corresponding increased usage of the Palmer Square Station, thereby aiding considerably to the traffic problems in the central business district.

PCDO recognizes and commends the Postal Service for its desire to cut costs, but this should not be done at the expense of eliminating essential services. The Government's Procurement Regulations call upon Federal Agencies to award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder whose "bid will be most advantageous to the Government, price and other factors considered."

It adds that: "Purchases shall be made from, and contracts shall be awarded only to, responsible prospective contractors." And in discussing what constitutes a responsible bidder, the Regulations require that he meet certain minimum standards which naturally vary depending upon the facts in each case.

PCDO does not believe Ewing Cleaners meets minimum standards in this case. It does not afford the Princeton community appropriate shopping conveniences, adequate parking, pedestrian safety, etc. A Sub-station located at the Shopping Center does provide these necessities and this should afford the Postal Service ample justification for rejecting Ewing Cleaners' bid as not being the lowest responsible one.

We, therefore, strongly urge that you reconsider your decision and that you do not move the Sub-station from the Princeton Shopping Center to Ewing Street.

In accordance with the desires expressed by PCDO members at our meeting, copies of this letter are being sent to our senator and congressmen in Washington.

Bicycle Safety Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the etxt of a letter which I have sent to both police chiefs.

C. E. St. JOHN
Chairman,
Princeton Bikeways Committee
283 Prospect Avenue

I feel that Princeton needs help from its Police. Help, that is, in combatting three real and present dangers.

Danger No. 1: The recent fatal accident involving a cyclist.

Danger No. 2: The police are quoted as saying, "The bike population is not obeying the law."

Danger No. 3: Cycling is increasing and will continue to do so.

Any one of these dangers are worthy of your attention, and together they must constitute a compelling need to increase the enforcement of the traffic laws pertaining to the cyclists of this community.

This enforcement would help to make this community a pleasanter and safer place in which to live, to prevent another fatality in the future, and to incur the respect and gratitude of all for a police job well done.

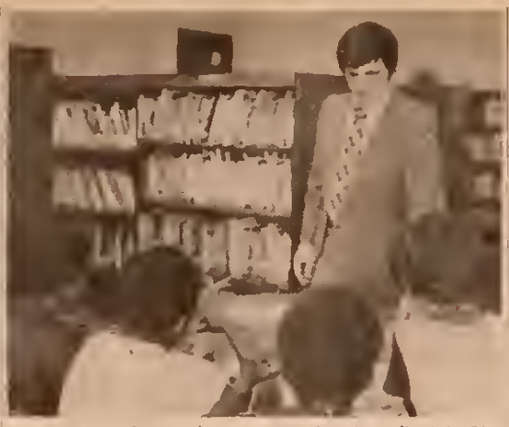
Start Your Career Now: Tutor Kids in Reading



TUTORS' TUTOR: Anthony Mercantino (standing) is Director of Education at The Skillman Training School for Boys and he will watch over the training of young volunteer tutors the School hopes to recruit this summer. In the foreground are four of the School's youngsters who will be the subjects of the tutoring program.

Teaching or social work the career for you? If so, think how nice it would be on a resume, to be able to write, "I tutored reading, working one to one with a ten year old inner city kid who is three grades below his reading level . . ."

Students in high school (or college) who are 17 years or more are invited to volunteer for the summer tutorial reading program at the Skillman Training School for Boys.

The school is a new, clean and airy complex of buildings in Blawenburg across the road from the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute. The age minimum of 17 is required because the school is somewhat remote with no transportation, and you'll have to drive there on your own.

The dynamic young Director of Education, Anthony Mercantino, will be running the program. Volunteers don't need any prior experience. ("but think of the wonderful experience they can GAIN!" Mr. Mercantino exclaims) and training will be done on the job partly through cassettes and film strips.

Ages 8 to 13. The 148 boys at the School were sent there by New Jersey's courts. They range in age from 8 to 13. Some had run away from home because they got too many beatings. Others are truants or potential school dropouts. Their offenses are in the category of minor misdemeanors.

Probably the younger ones will be chosen for the summer tutorial program because Mr. Mercantino thinks they may benefit more than the older boys.

"Almost without exception these kids have grown up in homes with very little supervision or attention," Mr. Mercantino explains. "I'd say 85 percent are from broken homes. They are deprived, disadvantaged — any word you want to use — extremely deficient socially, educationally, emotionally, and even physically you find they are physically small for their age."

What Mr. Mercantino calls a "socializing process" will be almost as important as reading.

Girl Tutors Needed. "When you remove kids from society, they lose contact with their peers. Some of these kids never learn how to relate to girls, for example, although we have a lot of women on our staff. We'd like girls as tutors, as well as boys.

And these kids really respond! Especially to volunteers because they know volunteers wouldn't be here unless they really wanted to be. The rapport is beautiful, just beautiful. They are so eager for attention — they never had any at home."

The summer program will start Tuesday, July 10. Plans are not completely firm, but Mr. Mercantino and Mrs. Geoffrey Sage, the School's chairman of volunteers, expect that tutors will be asked to come Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays for six weeks. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Volunteers will perhaps spend half a day as aides in a regular classroom, half a day tutoring, which can mean you just sit and rap with a boy — that's important, too," Mr. Mercantino repeats.

You will probably be assigned two or three kids a day to work with because the attention span for these youngsters is slight, and extends no longer than about 40 minutes.

"The program is not expected to be a panacea for kids with serious dyslexia," the director is careful to explain. "It's strictly a supplemental project, to set up good relationships, provide socialization and maybe give a kid some incentive to try, and read better."

Where to Sign Up

Student volunteers interested in tutoring at the Skillman Training School for boys, should call 466-2200 and ask for either Mr. Mercantino or Mrs. Sage.

Tutoring will be done in the School's big dining hall, or in the library (see photo). Youngsters move with relative freedom throughout the "campus" and are assigned living quarters in small cottages. At present, they are on a ten day vacation, but they will return in time for the six week reading program that starts July 10.

Directors at the School would like volunteers for the whole six-week period, but they are realistic about vacation plans. The three-day period within the week, has been chosen so that volunteers may take long week ends.

CHARGES ANSWERED

By University. Contrary to the charges leveled by the National Organization of Women in its response to the University's affirmative action report, (Town Topics, June 20) Princeton University is making significant progress in hiring women for faculty positions.

"We are pleased that NOW recognized that changes are occurring at Princeton," commented Provost Sheldon Hackney, "and only regret that it does not fully appreciate the significance of those changes."

Mr. Hackney, Princeton's Equal Employment Opportunity Officer, pointed out that in 1969-70, the first year of coeducation at Princeton, there were 20 women on the faculty. Since then the number of women faculty members has risen steadily: to 30 in 1970-71, 43 in 1971-72, 63 in 1972-73.

Despite the fact that over the last decade women have received only about 11 percent of the Ph.D.'s in the academic disciplines represented at Princeton, 25 percent of Princeton's new hires for 1973-74 and for the last three years have been women scholars.

One-third of the departments at Princeton already have achieved a higher proportion of women on the faculty than there are women Ph.D. holders in that field. "Judging by these results," commented Mr. Hackney, "our affirmative action plan is working."

"Princeton has also been a leader among institutions of higher education in improvto provide equal employment ing the terms of employment opportunity," Mr. Hackney said. "The University, for example, has no 'nepotism rule' which would bar the employment of a spouse who would otherwise be qualified.

Part-time faculty status is available in the professional ranks for faculty who find full-time duties impossible and child-rearing leaves are proavailable in the professorial vided for parents of either sex without affecting their positions on the faculty. By any standard, Princeton University is responding creatively & constructively to these important needs of the University and of our times."

"Even though we are not completely satisfied with our performance in attracting black faculty to Princeton and want to do much better," said the Provost, "it is also true that the percentage of our new hires who are black far exceeds the best available estimate of the percentage of Ph.D. holders nationally who are black. We have made a significant beginning and we intend to do better."

RCA Astro Marks 15 Years in Space Business

Leaning back in his chair, C. S. Constantino mused, "we just took another step further — from rugs to magic carpets."

Mr. Constantino, Division Vice President and General Manager, RCA Astro-Electronics Division, was reflecting on "how it began" during a discussion on the 15th anniversary of the RCA Space Center, as it is more commonly known.

"RCA literally started on the ground floor of the space business. The building which served as our first home had, at one time, housed a rug factory," he said, alluding to his rugs - to - magic - carpet metaphor.

Established in 1958, the RCA Astro-Electronics Division currently is engaged in the development and fabrication of a broad line of space systems, spacecraft and related subsystems designed to handle everything from weather and navigation to scientific and communications tasks.

Now 10 Times Larger. Located on a 140-acre site at the intrsection of Routes 571 and 535 in West Windsor Township, the sprawling facility today occupies nearly 400,000 square feet of space —about 10 times larger than the original plant.

The division was created by Dr. Elmer Engstrom, then corporate vice-president of research and head of the David Sarnoff Research Center. Now retired, Dr. Engstrom rose to become President of RCA and later Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Corporation's Board of Directors.

The division was formed, Dr. Engstrom said, for the purpose of "development and production of satellites, space-vehicle systems, and associated ground equipment."

Commented Mr. Constantino: "Though space systems have become considerably more sophisticated and complex, our division's objective remains basically the same as that stated 15 years ago by Dr. Engstrom."

Spurred on by Sputnik. Less than six months before the RCA division was born, Russia fired its version of the "shot that was to be heard 'round the world." Launched on October 4, 1957, Sputnik, the first man-made satellite, shocked America into consciousness of space and ushered in the Space Age.

"It was immediately recognized that this country's scientific resources would have to be marshalled to their fullest extent if the United States was to avoid taking a back-seat to the Russians in the new space era," Mr. Constantino said.

"The events that followed," he noted, "have provided ample evidence of the effective way in which this herculean effort was achieved. RCA is proud of the major role that it played and continues to play in various on-going space programs."

In December, 1958, the U. S. launched Project SCORE (Signal Communications by Orbiting Relay Equipment) aboard an Atlas rocket. The radio relay equipment, built by the new RCA division for the Army Signal Corps, Fort Monmouth, broadcast the first recorded voice message from outer space. It was a message of peace from the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Eye on the Weather. In the same year that RCA's space activities got under way, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was established. Responsibility for the TIROS weather satellite program thus was turnd over to NASA by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency.

RCA ASTRO FOUNDER: Former Princeton resident Dr. Elmer Engstrom was one of the key persons involved in the founding of the RCA Space Center 15 years ago. He was then corporate, vice-president of research and head of the David Sarnoff Research Center here.

Involved in the weather satellite program from almost its very beginning, RCA has built 22 successful weather satellites under the direction of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center. The Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration currently manages and operates the weather sentry system.

In addition to the TIROS/ITOS family of satellites, RCA has participated in a number of other highly successful space programs over the past 15 years.

- Two Relay communications satellites, the first launched in December, 1962, carried out some 5,000 television, voice, teletype and facsimile experiments and demonstrations in more than five years of operation.
- The RCA built television systems on Ranger spacecraft produced 17,200 photos of the lunar surface. The pictures were significantly better than any obtained by earth-basd telescopes.
- RCA provided the communications and power systems for five Lunar Orbiter spacecraft which mapped the moon for potential lunar landing sites. The RCA systems beamed back to earth a total of 1,603 photos.
- The first in a series of experimental meteorological satellites called NIMBUS was launched into near-polar orbit on August 28, 1964, carrying advanced RCA TV systems, tape recorders and power supply systems. Since then, four other RCA-equipped NIMBUS spacecraft have been launched, the most recent on December 11, 1972.
- The RCA color TV camear permitted the world to view "live" pictures of the Apollo astronauts as they explored the valleys and mountains of the moon.

Meanwhile, RCA is building the Atmosphere Explorer spacecraft that will, later this year, investigate the earth's upper atmosphere. Hopefully, it will provide scientists with answers to questions about the little known region above the earth where the mysterious Aurora Borealis puts on its dazzling displays of lights. Additionally, RCA is developing communications satellites to meet a variety of domestic and international applications.

In1976, the Viking Lander is scheduled to touch down on Mars. RCA communications equipment on board will transmit some 225 million miles back to earth information about whther life actually exists on the Red Planet.

PERMIT APPROVED For Housing Conversion. The Borough Zoning Board last week granted a special permit to John Archer that enables him to convert a single family dwelling at 25 Wiggins Street to a two-family structure. It also granted him a variance for a lot area of 460 square feet which he needed to comply with the zoning ordinance.

The board attached two conditions, however. One, that an entrance way to the second floor conform to the Housing Code and also that the applicant change the conformity of his off-street parking as stipulated by the Regional Planning Board, which recommended eliminating one proposed place in the rear.

Mr. Archer was still able to provide the required off-street parking.

The board denied a minor adjustment request by Maurice Harding, 22 Pelham Street, to construct a deck and fireplace chimney in a side yard.

The board cited the small size of the lot, the location of Mr. Harding's house on the lot and the location of the nearest neighbor as some of the reasons for its decision.

The scheduled appearance before the board by G.R. Murray, Inc., a real estate firm that intends to convert the dwelling at 340 Nassau Street into an office and three apartments, was cancelled.

Bernard Glover, secretary to the board, reported that after all zoning computations concerned with the application had been made, it was determined that the firm did not have to come before the board.

THREE ARE FINED For Assault. Three persons were fined last week for assault in Borough Court.

Acting Judge William Bunting of West Windsor fined Charles Huth, 41 Vandeventer Avenue, and Governor Robinson, 20 Bayard Lane, each $60. Each pleaded not guilty. Richard Hall, no known address, was found guilty and ordered to pay $10 court costs. The complainant in the latter case was Edward F Grant of Princeton.

William E. Diringer, 9 Pine Street, was given a suspended, 90-day sentence to Mercer County Jail and placed on six months probation for possession of hypodermic needles without a prescription.

Mark R. Parsells, 36 Princeton Avenue, charged with use of heroin and possession of marijuana, was placed on probation for six months for a conditional discharge and ordered to pay $10 court costs. Under a conditional discharge, as long as the defendant abides by the rules of his probation, he will not be sentenced upon termination of probation.

William Bonner of Trenton, was fined $30 for distributing alcoholic beverages to minors and placed on six months probation for marijuana possession. The drug charge also carried a $10 court cost levy.

Four Princeton residents were charged with possession of marijuana. George McGowan, 246 John Street, was fined $40, while Thomas P Mauro, 27½ Witherspoon, was fined $10 court costs and put on probation for six months.

Raymond Ranallo, 437 Ewing Street, and Marion F Stokes Jr., 191 Witherspoon, were each placed on probation for six months for conditional discharge and fined $10 court costs.

CAMPUS REMAINS ACTIVE During Summer Months. Activities of general interest to the Princeton Community are taking place this summer on the University Campus.

These include daily, student-conducted tours of the campus, the varied offerings of the Summer Theatre Intime, summer chamber concerts and a Program of Continuing Educational Studies offered by the School of Engineering and Applied Science, which involves four week-long courses in subjects of interest to mid-career engineers, applied scientists, and industrial and corporate managers.

Information about these activities, as well as the visiting hours for the Art Museum, the University Natural History Museum in Guyot Hall, Prospect Gardens, Firestone Library and special events, may be obtained at the Orange Key Guide Service Office in Stanhope Hall (452-3603), or from the main bulletin board in front of that office.

As an aid to University visitors, maps of the campus have been posted near Nassau Hall and at the Woodrow Wilson School Plaza, giving information about campus buildings and other matters. This includes information about the use of University facilities during the summer months.

As in recent summers, the University Campus remains open to visitors. However, after 8.30 p.m., in the proximity of Nassau Hall and the Firestone Library, no one is permitted to sit on or congregate on the lawns during the period from mid-June until after Labor Day.

Notices have been posted at the Woodrow Wilson School Plaza, off Washington Road, to remind campus visitors that the reflecting pool is neither a wading nor a swimming pool and that the University buildings near the pool are in use throughout the summer for student and faculty research, thus limiting the usage of those buildings to University-guided tours or to those on official University business.

Those with comments or suggestions on the University's summer regulations are invited to forward them to the Office of Community and Regional Affairs at 317 Nassau Hall.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you

By John Bernard

Here's an oddity about one of the greatest players in baseball history—Lou Gehrig. Everything important that ever happened to Gehrig in his great baseball career—and in his life—strangely enough, happened in the month of June. He was born June 19, 1903. He started his famous streak of playing 2,130 consecutive games on June 1, 1925. His biggest day at bat, when he tied the all-time record by hitting four homers in one game, came on June 3, 1932. A crippling disease forced his retirement from baseball June 21, 1939. And so it goes. To top it off, Gehrig died, at the age of only 38 on — you guessed it — June 2, 1941.

Here's an oddity. Although the Philadelphia Phillies have been playing big league baseball every year since 1900, they have NEVER won a World Series! That seems hard to believe, but you can look it up and see that it's true.

How fast could you drive a car in the old days? Well, the first auto race in the United States was held in Chicago on Thanksgiving Day, 1895. It was a 50 mile race, and the winning car, driven by famous inventor Frank Duryea traveled at the average speed of—believe it or not—7½ miles per hour!

I bet you didn't know that we have an insurance policy that would have helped Lou Gehrig. We have all sorts of insurance for people who think they can't buy insurance because of their health.

STANFORD WINS IN TENNIS

Takes Both NCAA Titles. A New Jersey resident who goes to college 3,000 miles from here led Stanford University to a sweep of honors in the National Intercollegiate Tennis Championships held here last week.

Alex (Sandy) Mayer of Wayne took the singles title in straight sets and then paired with teammate Jim Delaney to win the doubles, losing only one set in the four played. Mayer easily defeated Raul Ramirez, Mexican Davis Cup player who is a student at the University of Southern California, in the singles finals, dropping only eight games. The score was 6-3, 6-1, 6-4.

North Carolina's doubles pair of Fred McNair and Richard McKee were victims of Mayer and Delaney in the last event of the week long tournament, which was frequently forced indoors by rain. After the first two sets had been split, 6-3, the Stanford duo broke McKee's service to take the third set, 7-5. Another 6-3 decision completed their triumph.

Stanford took the team title as it scored 33 points, one for each match won. USC was the runner up, followed by two Texas colleges, Houston and Southern Methodist. Twenty-four players were named to the All-American Squad, virtually all from the Pacific Coast and Southwest.

Only Columbia's Henry Bunis was included from the Northeast. Princeton's four entries had been eliminated by Wednesday.

In a special presentation, the Friends of Princeton Tennis, an alumni group of former varsity players, gave John Conroy, Chairman of the Championships Committee, an inscribed Tiffany clock in appreciation for his years of service and dedication coaching the tennis at Princeton.

The Princeton Community Tennis Program parents, players and staff provided assistance throughout the week. Most notable were the ball boys and girls who helped with the matches, sometimes as late as midnight. Mrs. Gavin Hilldick Smith scheduled the 42 youngsters for matches, with the assistance of Mrs. Orly Benjamin, and program instructor Joe Diefenbach coached them on their duties.

In addition to the NCAA shirt which each ball boy and girl received, a drawing was held at the finals to award four tennis racquets, donated by the Princeton University Store and Varsity Sports Shop.

TENNIS STARTS MONDAY

Junior Boys to Play Here. Outstanding Junior boys 18 and under, and 16 and under, will gather on the Princeton courts Monday to compete for the Middle States Junior Boys Championships.

This sanctioned United States Lawn Tennis Association Tournament will be a qualifying event for the Nationals. The matches will start Monday, with finals Friday.

The Church Courts of Princeton University will be the main check point. As entries must be filed by Saturday, anyone interested should send an entry blank promptly or contact the co-chairmen of the event, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lapidus, 921-7386. Entry blanks are available also through the Princeton Community Tennis Program office, 71 University Place.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Lapidus is a committee of volunteers including the following chairmen: housing, Mrs. Charles Lifland, Mrs. Newell Woodworth; Mrs. William Rotchfield; transportation, is Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Richard Flournoy, Mrs. Douglas Corlette; trophies, Mrs. Blan Aldridge; hospitality, Mrs. Henry Broad; treasurer, Marshall Schmidt.

In this year's competition, only juniors in the Middle States area may compete in order to determine those eligible to go to the Nationals later in the summer. The Middle States comprises all of Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey (except that part within 35 miles of New York City Hall).

There will be two age divisions, 16's and 18's. Players who have not signed up for doubles may do so at the registration desk of the tournament. Partners will be provided upon request. Princeton area players are asked to report at 9 a.m. at the Church Courts in order to register prior to out-of-towners expected at 10.

Last year's winner of the 16 and under singles event, Todd Lundy, is expected to compete in the 18 and under matches, Jay Lapidus, finalist both in the singles and doubles of the 14 and under division in 1972, will appear in the 16 category. As in the past, a strong field is expected.

Parking is limited, and it is recommended that everyone enters by Faculty Road and park in the area directed by the guard. There is a fenced-in public lot close to Parking Lot 16 and the Church Courts with a gate at the north end. This gate will give easy access to the courts.

The first day or two of the matches, drivers may be needed to car pool players to other courts. Anyone able to help will be most welcome.

Additional housing may also be needed for out of town players, as well as umpires for the semi finals and finals. Volunteers should contact the Tennis Office (924-4343) or the respective chairmen.

SAILING SPOT DECIDED

By 3/10,000ths of a Point. The last Sunday of racing in the Carnegie Sailing Club's spring series featured a tight battle for fifth place in the Sunfish class.

When the day began, four skippers were in contention with only 1/10th of a point separating them. After seven races the highest of the four, Jim McPherson had come in first, passed his three competitors, and edged out Dick Jesser for fifth place by 3/10,000ths of a point. Jesser finished third, just behind Joel Johnson.

The contest was meaningless except as a matter of pride, for only the first four skippers will win trophies in the spring series. They are: Tad LaFountain, first; Walt Gibson, second; John Hopfield, third; Jack Kunz, fourth. In the smaller Laser class, the top three skippers for the spring series are: Ed Metcalf, first, Bob Holzman, second; Peter Bordes, third.

TIGER NINE ELECTS

Ken Beytin Next Captain. A first baseman who doubles as a 240-lb. tackle for the Tiger football team will be Princeton's next baseball captain. Ken Beytin broke into the starting lineup in his first game as a sophomore and has been a regular ever since.

Equipped with great power, Beytin hits clean-up for Eddie Donovan's nine and was credited with a .347 average in his first season, earning a berth on the Eastern League All-Star team. His average dropped off last spring but he contributed numerous fine defensive plays and was named to the second all-League team.

DOUBLE NO-HIT GAME

But Roma Eterna Wins, 3-0. A double no hit game between Roma Eterna and Engine Co. No. 1, and a contest between Elks and Hook & Ladder which produced just two hits generated some tense moments in the second week of the PYBA Little League competition.

Carl Nazzaro of Roma Eterna and Keith Phox of Engine No. 1, two of the top pitchers in the league, lived up to their reputation as they combined for 28 strikeouts and no hits. Phox fanned 15 but lost the game when some aggressive base running by Dave Fitzgerald, Pierre Murl and John Rosenthal produced three runs for Roma Eterna all of them unearned.

The Elks combined a run-scoring single by Joe Shepetin and an error and wild pitch for another run to blank Hook & Ladder, 2-0. Elk hurler Chuck Kohli limited the losers to one hit, a double by Todd Kuhn. Shepetin's hit was the only one surrendered by H&L pitchers, Jerry Moyer and Joe Lapsley.

In another game, the Elks, ahead by 6-0, held off a rally by the ItalianAmerican Sportsman Club to eke out a 6-5 win. Evan Press got the win. The Sportsmen's offense was sparked by Mario Mangone, who banged out three hits.

Post 76 also ganged up on winless IASC defeating the Sportsmen, 11-2. Doug Ferguson with four hits and Chip Kleiber with three made things easy for Post pitcher Woody Clark. For the losers, Billy Perna tripled and Dave Saltz batted 2 for 2 in his first game this season.

Things were even easier for Post 76 in its game with Hook & Ladder. It amassed a season high of 24 runs as it out slugged the firemen, 24-11. Mark Pittman led the cannonading with a homer, triple, double and two singles, while winning pitcher Bobby Cook chipped in with three hits.

Al Kandell's two hits, one a homer, and three safeties by Alex Versfeld paced the H&L attack.

Two rained out games were played Saturday, both ending in easy wins for the Eagles. In the morning, Andy Jenson pitched an 11-2 win over Engine Co. No. 3, stroking a homer to aid his own cause. Jeff Skillman contributed two hits in support. David Glaxill and Eric Swartzentruber hit safely for Engine No. 3.

In the afternoon, the pitching of Rick Johnson combined with a bases-loaded triple by Troy Pappas sparked the Eagles to an 10-0 shutout of Engine No. 1. Chris McDonald batted 2-for-3 for the victors, while Keith Phox and Bob Littell were the top hitters for the Carnegie Sailing Club's battle for fifth place in the Engine No. 1.

EIGHT GAMES FOR HUN

In Football Next Fall. The Hun School football team will play the same eight opponents it met in 1972 starting with Newark Academy September 22.

Following are Peddie, Pennington, Blair, Delbarton, Princeton High, Pingry & Admiral Farragut. Peddie, Blair, PHS and Pingry are home games. Last fall under coach Dave Leete, the Red and Black suffered through a 1-7 season.

SCORES ARE LOPSIDED

In Babe Ruth Openers. In opening games of the Princeton Babe Ruth League last week, PBA blanked New York Life, 13-0, as Joe Herrman tossed a two-hitter, and Thorne Pharmacy defeated Princeton Bank & Trust, 13-2.

Tom Hernquist, three hits and Bob McHugh, Dana Nin and David Wilson, two hits each, led the potent PBA attack. Dave Seagers and Jim Lennon accounted for the two singles yielded by Herrman who bested Mike Boonin on the mound.

Jim LaPlaca was the big gun in Thorne's victory. He combined with Dave Shillaber to limit PB&T to three hits, (two by Junior Oldham and one by Bob Sickel) and also led his team in slugging with three hits. Rich Chenowith, Dan Aronovic and Shillaber combined for two hits apiece for Thorne's.

This Wednesday evening at 6 PBA was scheduled to oppose PB&T at the university's Struhing Field, and NYL was scheduled to meet Thorne's at the PHS diamond.

RED, GREEN WIN

In Summer Lacrosse. Red and Green teams posted easy wins last week in the first games played in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League at Marquand Park.

Top scorers for Red were Chip Hall with four goals, Al Fitzpatrick, three, and Noel Belli, two. Pete Scamria scored the loser's lone goal in the first period as Red topped Navy, 11-1.

Led by Mark Cleary's four goals, Green defeated Blue, 12-4. Fred Baruch added three goals for the victors, while Mark Tullis had a goal and four assists.

Tim Smith paced the losers with a pair of goals. Brooks Mohrmann and Dave DeMauro added single goals.

EARNINGS FORECAST

By United Jersey Banks. United Jersey Banks has estimated (based on its first five months' operations) that its income before securities transactions for the first six months of 1973 will be approximately equal to the earnings for the comparable period of 1972. First National Bank of Princeton is a member bank.

In March, the company officers, speaking to security analyst groups in Chicago and New York, forecast a 12-16 percent gain in earnings for the full year of 1973. This prediction was based on the first two months of the year and was predicated on the normal relationship between the short term cost of money and lending rates.

As the year proceeded, the cost of money became higher and higher in relationship to interest income. This unusual condition has adversely affected UJB's earnings and has made forecasting the company's earnings for the balance of the year most difficult.

Edward A. Jesser, Jr., Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the holding company, as well as the lead bank, Peoples Trust of New Jersey, explained the effect of the unusual money market conditions and what is being done to offset them.

"Peoples Trust, which represented about 70 percent of the holding company's assets at year-end 1972, relies more on time deposits than demand deposits as a source of funds. Time deposits have been becoming increasingly more expensive, particularly those represented by certificates of deposit. The market rate for C-D's is currently over 8 percent and when reserves and FDIC insurance premiums are added, the aggregate cost approximates 8 3-4 to 9 percent.

"High short term investment yields also have a negative impact on demand deposits, as they attract funds that might otherwise be in customer checking accounts.

The effect at Peoples Trust and some of the other member banks has been a slowdown in the normal demand deposit growth that would be occurring at this time of year. This causes the banks to use either the Federal Reserve discount window or the federal funds market to meet their day-to-day loan commitments.

Federal funds are currently quoted at approximately 8 1-4 to 8½ percent, while use of the Federal Reserve discount window is limited as to amount and duration. The combination of high money cost and an artificially low prime rate, that has only reached 7 1-2 percent within the past week, has caused a negative impact on earnings."

HINDS, PIASC GAIN

In Softball League. Hinds and PIASC gained ground last week in the Adult Softball League, as each won a pair of games as the league's tailenders.

Hinds defeated Sports 'N' Things, 10-4, and PCR, 13-2, as it jumped to an early four-run lead in the first inning in both games. Both losers have failed to win in five tries.

PIASC fattened its team batting average as it routed Andy's Tavern, 18-9, and Sports 'N' Things, 16-4. The Italian-Americans were led at the plate by Jim Perone, John Pesce and Floyd Phox, who batted over .800 in the twin victories.

Center Sports rebounded from an earlier loss to Conte-Staats by edging Andy's Tavern, 4-3. Andy's socred two in the first but the Sportsmen rallied for one in the second and three in the third to win their second against three losses.

Ivy Inn remained the lone undefeated team in the league when it exploded for 12 runs in the sixth to defeat Conte-Staats, 14-3. In its big inning, the Green connected for 10 straight hits and banged out 13 in all before it was over.

Jim Case and Bob Mucciarelli both had perfect nights at the plate to lead the Ivy attack. The victors outhit, C-S, 20 to 11. Ivy pitcher Dave Britton played a solid defensive game as he consistently stopped drives up the middle.

Sannino's took over sole possession of second place when it completely outclassed the light-hitting Andy's Tavern team, 21-5. George McVaugh and Tom Brophy combined for seven hits to lead the 23-hit Sannino barrage. Ray Pettus homered in the first for the victors, while Bill McQuade blasted his second opposite field four-bagger in the sixth.

In another game, Conte-Staats topped Center Sports, 9-3, behind good hitting and some fine defensive play. John Milchanoski homered for C.S.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Ivy Inn	5	0	1.000
Sannino's	4	1	.800
PIASC	4	2	.667

TWO CONGREGATIONS MERGE INTO ONE: With the choirs and clergy leading the way (left), and the congregations following, members of St. Andew's and First Presbyterian churches shook hands and joined in a single procession on Nassau Street Sunday to symbolize the merger of the two as Nassau Presbyterian Church. The united congregation filed down Elm Drive and into Alexander Hall on the University campus for services of constitution. The gathering of more than 900 heard Dr. C. Willard Heckel, immediate past moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly, describe the new church as "a merging, loving group of people, dedicated to the use of these buildings, but dedicated also to the moving of the gospel into the community called Princeton and into the greater and larger community." At the conclusion of the service and reception, a flock of balloons was released. Parishoners returned to find the message boards in front of both the Chambers Street building and the Palmer Square building, as the two structures are now known, changed to reflect the single church's new name. The photos were taken from the apartment of Mrs. Willard E. Bishop, a member of Nassau Presbyterian, at 48 Nassau Street.

News Of The CHURCHES

GOSPEL TEAM HOSTED

For Campaign For Christ. The Princeton Church of Christ begins Sunday a three - week Campaign for Christ in which 29 students from various Christian colleges will visit residents to talk to them about Jesus and invite them to a 10-day gospel meeting with evangelist Owen D. Olbricht.

Mr Olbricht will preach July 11-20 at 7:30 each evening in the Church of Christ sanctuary at 33 River Road. Topics of his sermons include "The New Generation," "Why Not a Trip with Jesus?" and "The Bankrupt Life."

The students campaigning in Princeton will be housed and fed by the Princeton church. No requests will be made of residents for gifts or financial assistance.

The Princeton stop is one of eight that Mr. Olbricht and the students will make this year. Other cities on their tour are Bedford, Ind.; Steubenville, Ohio; Grimsby, Ont.; Hurricane, W. Va.; Indiana and West Chester, Pa., and Vineland, N. J.

Mr Olbricht will continue preaching through the winter in the Vineland area.

NEW CHURCH FORMED

By Jehovah's Witnesses. A new congregation to serve the Lawrenceville - Princeton - Hopewell area has been formed by the Jehovah's Christian Witnesses.

About 50 Jehovah's Witnesses, led by Presiding Minister John Marks, are now worshipping Sundays at 10 a.m. and Fridays at 7:30 p.m. in the Berrien Room of the First National Bank of Central Jersey, 1 Washington Street, Rocky Hill.

The congregation, which previously had been scattered among churches in Trenton, Somerville, and Cranbury, is seeking a permanent home.

PRIEST SELECTED

To Lecture in Scotland. Fr. Stanley L. Jaki of Stuart Road, professor of physics at Seton Hall University, South Orange, and weekend assistant at St George's Church in Washington Crossing, has been selected to deliver the prestigious Gifford Lectures at the University of Edinburgh during the 1974 and 1975 academic years.

The announcement was made by the Committee of Gifford Lectures of Scotland's four universities. The lectureship was established by Lord Gifford in 1885 for the promotion of natural theology and ethics based on scientific considerations.

Father Jaki is only the sixth American scholar to be named a Gifford Lecturer. His predecessors include William James of Harvard, John Dewey of Columbia, and Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr of the Union Theological Seminary.

A native of Hungary who became an American citizen in 1956 and who moved to Princeton in 1960, Fr. Jaki will deliver two series of 10 lectures each year. He will be in residence at the University of Edinburgh while he is giving the lectures.

The title of the series is "Cosmology and Contingency." The physicist-priest said the lectures will "review the history of cosmology, ancient and modern, and analyze the major cosmological theories and whether or not they have incorporated the idea of contingency. If so, what was the impact of that on the scientific value of the theory?"

Theological Borderline. Father Jaki said the idea of contingency, in broad terms, could be defined as "the idea that the universe is not a self-contained, or self-explaining, entity — that it is contingent on something else, like a philosophical or metaphysical factor."

In addressing these factors, Fr. Jaki said, "you're on the borderline of natural theology."

Internationaly known for his books on the history and philosophy of physics and astronomy, Rev. Jaki has earned doctorates in both theology and physics. He is the recipient of the Lecomte du Nouy Prize in 1970.

The exact dates of his trips to Scotland have yet to be determined. He may lecture in the fall of 1974 and the fall of '75, or the spring of 1975 and the spring of '76.

What sort of exterior do you want your prospective home to possess? The question is often as important as those concerning the contents of the inside. Be sure the place that you come home to looks welcoming on the outside as well as on the inside! You are welcome to enjoy the services of those at WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100). Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5. Call us to list your home. We have many eager buyers waiting.
